

BODY Conference

traditional eastern medicine
a way to wellbeing

San Francisco

"We should protect our body by ourselves" is Rendo Jyuku's motto. In a world filled with information, we now have access to a multitude of health programs, treatments and healing methods.

But how do we know which is the most suitable for us?
Have you ever wondered why Japanese has the longest and healthiest life expectations?

Developed through centuries and adapted by its Masters for modern life, traditional Japanese medicine may be the solution for you, as it provides us with both physical and mental health care.
